

I had heard of you, way before I contacted you for my son, I was already impressed from the stories told. And I continued to be very impressed deeply touched by you after my son and I began working with you.

I can feel your immense heart by your ability to see people, to see our children, and by the preciseness of your words. You fearlessly challenge our kids and us because you are not about niceties but about integrity, honest love, and the empowering of our children and us to live successful lives. You definitely are more direct than many of us are used to, but always compassionately so, and you demonstrate a great deal of gentleness whenever it is needed. Your smiling eyes say it all. More

Your immense heart can also be felt by the countless hours, days and years you have devoted to children and their families, whether you are in tiptop shape or fighting some bug or another, all the while carrying in your heart your devotion to your own family and concern for their urgent needs.

I, for one, have learned a great deal from you Timothy and trusted fully that you have at heart what is truly best for our kids. I have been deeply touched by your unabashed and unrestrained candor about your own past, your relationship with your parents, your marriage and divorce, your love and commitment to your own family. I was inspired by your humility.

You practice what you teach: To be transparent, open, communicative and connected. Whenever you spoke in a group, I felt as if you were directing your words at me and addressing the specifics of my family, a feeling I am sure was shared by every parent who attended. I do not know how you do it, but on those calls, and in a most uncanny way, you always managed to dissipate anxieties all the while pulling learning from each tricky situation.

Thank you Timothy for being in our lives and for your courage to turn dreams into reality.
